

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1893.

INCONSISTENT POLITICIANS.

Senator Voorhees of Indiana made a fair speech in favor of silver and then introduced a bill for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act. The Sherman act is not what silver men desire, in fact very few of them favored its passage. It was, as Sherman admits, supported by him to prevent the passage of a free coinage measure. The genuine silver men do not want the government to purchase an ounce of silver bullion. They ask that the mints be opened for the coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 as it is to gold, and as it had been from its establishment in 1792 up to 1873. Now, however, the Sherman act, which repealed the Bland act, is all that prevents the complete demonetization of silver, and the friends of the metal do not want it repealed unless a more favorable substitute is enacted.

In this connection the action of Voorhees and other senators, who pretend to be favorable to silver is criticized by so-called silver men in Nevada, who are fully as inconsistent as the congressmen. During the presidential campaign they professed to be as much in favor of free coinage as those who joined the Silver party, though they advocated the election of men who were known to be opposed to it. As Stewart said in his criticism of Voorhees' speech in the senate they talked favorably of silver, but voted against it just as several congressmen did last Monday in the house of representatives.

THEY ALL DO IT.

The Gazette copies a column editorial from a San Francisco goldbug paper, which was doubtless written to divert attention from the financial question, which all concede is the most important political issue of the day, to the tariff question, which is merely one of schedules. The article conveys the impression that the ways and means committee is taking a new departure and will not permit the minority to be present when framing a tariff bill. While this may be so and people may regret that it is so, it has been the custom since political parties divided on the tariff question. Any member of congress has a right to frame and introduce a tariff bill. McKinley did so and did not consult the minority about it. Parties hold secret caucuses from which every member of the opposition is excluded, to determine what action to take on measures of importance. It is not probable that Wilson of the ways and means committee will report a tariff bill that will suit Reed, who is a member of the committee. The majority invariably reports a bill to suit itself regardless of the objections or protests of the minority, and the present committee will not be likely to prove an exception to the rule. It is the custom; they all do it.

A DESTRUCTIVE STORM.

Details of the recent storm which swept the Atlantic coast from Key West to New England, show it to have been the most disastrous experienced for years. In South Carolina and Georgia it equaled a Kansas cyclone in severity. Many vessels were wrecked on the coast and many lives and much valuable property destroyed inland. Information received at Augusta, by messengers from the surrounding country, is to the effect that not half the horrors have yet been reported.

The result of one day's work by relief parties place the number of missing at one hundred persons. In one place ten bodies were found on the bank of the Ocoosa river, lying close together. At Charleston, the damage to property is estimated at about $1,000,000, and the loss of life has not yet been ascertained. There are no lights in the city and no railroad communication with the south. Telegraph poles were prostrated, wires broken and sections of railroads washed away. On the islands off the coast the loss of life is about six hundred and the total fatalities will probably exceed a thousand.

BUD TAGGART was consigned to the county jail at Spokane, Wash., to await the action of the grand jury, by a justice of the peace at Spangle. Constable Grant started with the prisoner. On the way they got hilariously drunk and subsequently went to sleep in the woods. Taggart awoke first and walked around while the officer slept. When the latter woke up he thought his prisoner was trying to escape and fired two shots at him, one of which grazed his side just at his heart. They made up again and were found by the police of Spokane in a notorious resort in that city and both were lodged in jail. That sort of sociability reminds one of early days in Nevada.

The Denver News says forty-cent wheat is good enough for Minnesota, Iowa, and the Dakotas until they cease to send Wall street senators and congressmen to Washington. Let the farmers in goldbug districts hold hard times until they get their eyes open.

The United States steamer Kearsarge, which left New York with the monitor Nantuxet in tow for Wilmington, N. C., and which was supposed to have been lost in the hurricane, put into Hampton Roads and escaped destruction.

SILVER MEN say the battle of the standards is only begun. Free coinage has been repulsed but it is not beaten.

SILVER IN THE SENATE.

Vance Speaks for Free Coinage. WASHINGTON, September 1.—The proposition to substitute the Voorhees (senate) bill for the Wilson (house) bill, to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman act was discussed in the senate.

Vance of the finance committee addressed the senate in opposition to the Voorhees bill. He showed the inconsistency of the advocates of repeal. He quoted from the Democratic and Republican national platforms in both of which there were declarations for bimetalism, and ironically commented on the way in which the pledges are being fulfilled. He said they seemed to think the only way to maintain parity between gold and silver was to let strike silver a death blow. Unconditional repeal would be a death blow, for it was known that Cleveland would veto any silver bill. The effect on the condition of mankind following the destruction of half the currency of the world, aggregating $7,500,000,000, would be impossible to accurately describe. He gave a history of the demonetization of silver, and declared that every government which had demonetized the white metal did so when it was at a premium. When coinage was stopped in India an effort to have it stopped in the United States began, aided by the influence of the moneyed powers of all the world and our own government. If coinage was stopped here silver would cease to live throughout the commercial world. The fall in price would be greater than that following the stoppage of coinage in India. Repeal without a substitute meant the end of silver money for this generation, unless a revolution of the people should restore it. Let no man doubt that repeal was the result of a conspiracy among the money-holders. He declared that the Sherman law did not drive out gold. Why did gold return with it still in force? The Democratic platform denounced the Sherman act as "a cowardly makeshift." This bill for its repeal, striking silver a harder blow, was more cowardly and more of a makeshift. He closed with a declaration for the free coinage of silver.

After a discussion as to the relative parliamentary status of the silver repeal bill and substitute, unanimous consent was asked for the adoption of the substitute pro forma, and have all amendments treated as amendments to the substitute.

Cockrell objected on the ground that the house bill was preferable to the substitute.

DEATH AND DESTITUTION.

The Governor of South Carolina Calling for Aid.

COLUMBIA, S. C., August 31.—Governor Tillman received the following telegram to-night from the receiver of the Port Royal railroad, it being the most specific information of the great disaster on the coast that has been received:

The loss of life by the recent cyclone on the islands adjacent to Beaufort and Port Royal will number not less than 600 people. There are 7,000 people on the islands entirely destitute of provisions, all they had being washed away and their crops being entirely lost. Great destitution will prevail among them unless they have speedy relief.

The governor immediately issued a proclamation, calling upon the people to come to the aid of their suffering fellow citizens. Contributions can be sent to the Bank of Beaufort, subject to draft of the relief committee which the governor will appoint.

Great Distress.

LONDON, September 1.—Reports from strike districts indicate great distress among the families of the strikers. The miners of East Lothian and Midlothian to-day resolved to strike unless wages were advanced 20 per cent.

In Chesterfield to-day a thousand strikers gathered at the gates of the Balasaver collieries and the police being unable to cope with them, invaded the works and did much damage. They then dispersed before reinforcements for the police arrived.

Banks Resume Business.

DENVER, Sept. 1.—The State National bank, the last one of the city's six suspended national banks, opened its doors again this morning. The Commercial National will resume in a few days. A score of national banks compelled to close their doors a few weeks ago, all have resumed save three, and it is said they will again be doing business before the middle of the month.

Scheme of Oregon Farmers.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 1.—The business agent of the State Farmers Alliance has a plan which he claims will prevent the farmer suffering loss by reason of the low price of wheat. He proposes to store the bulk of the crop and mortgage it for 25 cents a bushel, thus enabling the farmers to hold for better prices.

Troops Threaten to Revolt.

TEGUCHI, Sept. 1.—Unpaid troops threaten to revolt unless they are paid. Merchants openly refuse to loan money to the Government.

Strayed or Stolen.

From the South Side Bakery on the night of August 10th or 11th, an iron gray horse, white face, branded with snake brand. I will pay $10 reward for the recovery of the horse, and no questions asked. C. H. ZICHFELD. Reno, Aug. 22, 1893.

Telegraphic Notes.

Genuine Asiatic cholera has made its appearance in Jersey City and two deaths have resulted from the disease.

The bill to admit articles for exhibition at the California midwinter fair free of duty has been approved by the president.

The house of representatives is devoting its time to consideration of the rules. An amendment providing for cloture was voted down.

The business part of Copperopolis, California, has been destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $75,000. The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp in Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office.

A great strike is apprehended on the Louisville and Nashville railroad. The shop hands at Decatur, Alabama, have gone out and the train men will probably do so if the order reducing wages is not modified.

President Cleveland and family are at the White House. At a cabinet meeting the silver question was discussed and the president expressed the belief that the senate will carry out his recommendations.

An elevator dropped on John Waterway, who was repairing it at San Francisco, tore off a portion of his scalp, flattened his nose and probably fracturing his skull. Physicians think his injuries will prove fatal.

The Ohio wool growers' association protests against the reduction of the duty on wool. The resolutions urge the wool growers of the United States to attend a mass meeting of growers, dealers, cotton planters, farmers and grangers' organizations at the World's Fair, Chicago, September 28 and 29, and the national wool growers' association at the same place October 5.

Opera House Stable.

There are many beautiful drives in and about Reno and it is a pleasure these delightful evenings to take a spin along the hard macadamized-like roads, and the pleasure is increased two-fold if you are riding behind a team that does not necessitate the continuous use of the whip. If you will once hire a team of Wm. Carter, proprietor of the Opera House Livery and Feed Stable, you will derive that two-fold pleasure, for he keeps none but the best of stock. His vehicles are kept neat and clean. Read his new ad. in another column.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Rainfall Will be More General This Month—More About Sun Spots.
Copyright 1893 by W. T. Foster.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 1.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm waves to cross the continent from the 2d to 6th. The next will reach the Pacific coast about the 7th, cross the western mountains by the close of the 8th, the great central valleys from the 9th to the 11th, and the eastern states about the 12th.

This storm will be a severe storm throughout its journey across the continent, and will probably do some damage in the Mississippi valley.

The warm wave will cross the western mountains about the 7th, the great central valleys about the 9th, and the eastern states about the 11th. The cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 10th, the great central valleys about the 12th, and the eastern states about the 14th.

Rainfall will be more generally distributed during September than it is during August. The heaviest and most concentrated rains will occur while the storm of the 8th to the 12th is crossing the continent.

SPOTS ON THE SUN.

The high barometers of our earth storm explains the spots on the sun. Young is generally accepted authority on astronomy, and he says: "Faye more recently proposed and now maintains a theory which has numerous good points about it, and is accepted by many. He believes the sun spots are analogous to storms on the earth, being cyclones, due to the fact that the portions of the sun's surface near the equator make their revolutions in a shorter time than those in higher latitudes. The theory explains the distribution of spots which abound precisely where this relative drift is at its maximum."

Prof. Young raises the objection that if sun spots are caused by sun storms all the spots should be cyclonic, and manifest the spiral motion. He forgets that we look in at the top of the sun spot where, as a rule, we cannot see the spiral motion that exist near the solid body of the sun. At the top of the spot the thin cirrus clouds are moving in nearly straight lines and do not, as we know of our high barometers on earth, manifest any spiral motion until the clouds have sunk into the spot as they approach the body of the sun.

Professors Young and Faye err in calling the spots cyclones and storms, for they are nearly all anti-cyclones, and the very reverse of storms, for they are the same as our clearest weather following or preceding the storm. The storm center is full of clouds that are the brightest spots on the sun, and the spiral motion upward is obscured from our view.

COMBATING A THEORY.

Professor Young says that if the sun spots are similar to our storms, the whirl should always be in the same direction on the same side of the equator. That is also an error. While our low barometers usually contain a cloud ring encircling the center of the low, the center of well-developed storms almost universally contains a clear space 300 to 500 miles in diameter, where the darkest of deep-blue skies are seen, and if we were viewing one of these earth storms from the moon or from one of the planets, we would see a dark spot surrounded by bright facule. The latter would, of course, be the cloud belt in the storm wave surrounding the center of the low barometer, and the whirl in the northern hemisphere would be contrary to the hands of the watch. If we were looking at the larger spots on earth or sun that are the high barometers, the whirl is in the opposite direction, or with the hands of the watch. Therefore Prof. Young's objection that the whirl would all be in one direction, if the spots on the sun are caused by storms, is not good.

Prof. Young says that the influence of sun spots on the earth has been perfectly demonstrated, that when sun spots are numerous, magnetic storms are numerous and violent on the earth. There he stops and concludes that the spots are caused by volcanic eruptions throwing debris high above the sun, which falling back on the sun, somewhat cooler than the sun's surface, caused a contraction and depression. Thus he accounts for sun spots.

But he fails to suggest how a volcano on the sun can cause magnetic storms on the earth. I would account for the coincidence by saying that sun and planets are revolving, spherical moving magnets and affect each other in such cases. Therefore when a planet passes a place where the magnetic equilibrium of the sun is disturbed, the increased energy of the magnetic lines of force cause sun spots or sun storms, earth auroras, and increase the force of the earth's perpetual storm waves.

Prof. Young admits that investigations appear to indicate that the sun spots have an influence on the cyclones or hurricanes of the Indian ocean. Volcanoes on the sun cannot reach our hurricanes with their heat. But our scientists around the weather bureau at Washington claim that all our storms are caused by heat. I do not see how heat from the sun's volcanoes can cause great hurricanes, great magnetic storms and great auroras on the earth all at the same time, but I can readily understand that all these and the sun spots may have their origin in an increase in the magnetic forces.

MAGNETISM.

the same as the difference between muddy and clear water. This form of matter we know of but cannot see, is beginning to be recognized as the motive power of the universe, and ere long astronomers and teachers, in astro physics must recognize that all storms, sun spots, auroras and changes of the barometer, are results of magnetic action, caused by the influence of the sun, moon and planets on each other. I hope to demonstrate the correctness of these assertions ere I get to the end of this discussion.

THE "TRAMP" QUESTION.

Some Suggestions Regarding it From Citizen.

EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL.—Would it not more nearly accord with the doctrine of Christ were our citizens to call a meeting and provide some kind of employment whereby a person commonly known as a tramp can earn enough for his subsistence than the present system of indiscriminately throwing into the chancery any and all who may commit the almost unpardonable crime of getting hungry and asking for food? As affairs are now conducted each man thrown into the chancery costs our country from ten to fifteen dollars with little or no benefit either to the person or our people. With the genuine tramp I have no sympathy whatever and in the past when he asked for bread, I could accede to his request or give him a stone, well knowing that were he so minded, he could easily procure his own subsistence, but it is so no longer. Now men may roam the streets suffering from hunger who would gladly work if they could get anything to do. To distinguish the worthy destitute from tramps and frauds it seems to me that during the coming winter we should furnish some means of subsistence for all who are willing to earn it, and let those who will not work be escorted beyond the limits of the town by a committee appointed for that purpose and informed that their presence will no longer be tolerated. By doing as I have advised our wives need no longer be pestered by a band of marauding vagrants, and I think the time has come when the drones should be separated from the workers.

CITIZEN.

Campers Returned.

A party of campers consisting of Miss Nellie Hymers, Miss Echo Leder, Miss Nellie Douglas, Harry Martin and Charles Richardson, after spending three days at Lake Tahoe returned to Reno Thursday evening. They camped at Incline on the shore of the lake, where they met a party of twenty-three other Reno campers, who, like themselves, were enjoying the healthful mountain air. The returning party report having had a most enjoyable trip and were loth to leave so soon, but necessity, not taking into consideration the desires of humanity, compelled them to return.

On Wednesday last the new steamer Tallac was chartered by the party of twenty-eight and a most delightful day spent on the glistening waters of the beautiful Tahoe.

Mr. Martin and party made the trip to the lake by private conveyance, going by the new wagon road. Some little snow was encountered near the summit, but with that exception the road was found in fair condition.

The other campers were expected to return to-day.

Taken to the Hospital.

Alva Gould, the old gentleman who for several years has made his living by vending fruit on the depot, was taken sick yesterday with a serious attack of bilious fever and removed to the county hospital. The old gentleman has the distinction of being one of the discoverers of the Comstock and was the original locator of the Gould & Curry mine. He has lived almost a decade beyond the allotted three score years and ten, and although his health has not been vigorous for a number of years he has at all times scorned the idea of assistance from any source. For several years he has lived alone in a little cabin near the depot, but always under the watchful eye of friends. The hope is that he may speedily recover.

Funeral Notice.

The funeral of the late Warren H. Gould will take place from the family residence at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The interment will take place in Hillside cemetery. Friends and the public generally are invited to attend.

BREVITIES.

T. A. Read of Franktown was in Reno yesterday.

On bottle Ayer's Sarsaparilla is worth five of any other blood purifier. Plumbing, tinning and pipe work neat and cheap at Lange & Schmitt's. * The granite front of the Investment Company's building is beginning to loom up.

The report that the agency of the Nevada bank at Virginia city had closed its doors is denied.

If you want a good fitting pair of boots or shoes—no scab work from strangers—go to H. F. Pavola, who is reliable and no stranger.

Reno Guard armory in the Clough & Crosby building is the coziest retreat in town. The boys are having the place fitted up in elegant style. A billiard table, library and piano will adorn a large and nicely furnished room in the west end, where members and their friends can always spend a pleasant evening.

Professor Bray, who has returned from a visit to Lovelocks, is much pleased with the country. He says the town has greatly improved and crops are good. He was informed by farmers that wheat could not be harvested and prepared for market at less than $10 per ton, and they cannot sell it for more than that at the cars, consequently there is no profit in the business.

S. Emrich who has been in San Francisco selecting the stock for his new Dry Goods and Carpet house, returned yesterday morning, and with a corps of clerks has been busy all day unpacking large numbers of boxes of the latest and best goods attainable in the city. Mr. Emrich is more than popular with our people and the trading public will be glad to have him again among them. The new store will be open for business on Monday next.

THE STATE FAIR.

Special Premiums to Exhibitors. As the time for the State Fair is drawing near would it not be well for our business men and citizens to encourage exhibitors by offering special premiums, and thereby assist materially in bringing in exhibits for the fair?

J. J. Becker has started the ball rolling by offering a special premium of $20 for the best colt under one year of age sired by Waltham Tom exhibited at the State Fair.

The JOURNAL will be pleased from time to time as the offers are made to publish the list of special premiums and the names of the donors.

A Substantial Institution.
W. O. H. Martin is one of our most substantial and enterprising business men, and his place of business is one of the fixtures of the city, having been located in our midst for many years. When the farmers and trading public want anything in the line of hardware, crockery, groceries provisions, farming implements and machine extras they always know that by calling for the same at Mr. Martin's establishment they will not be compelled to go to a second store to find what they desire, as his stock is as large, if not the largest carried by any establishment in the state. Mr. Martin is a believer in the use of printers' ink, and his new double column ad. will be found elsewhere in this issue.
